2022 National Community Survey

Opinions of a representative sample of 700 residents of the City of Sacramento collected from February 18, 2022 to April 8, 2022. Three main areas of concern for respondents were affordability, safety, and economy.

Additional Information about the 2022 Community Survey

For a detailed analysis, visit our online dashboard!

7,000 households selected to receive survey. 2% of surveys were returned. Response rate of 10%.

Results compared to national benchmark of municipalities and custom benchmark of those with a population between 400,000 and 5 million.

Questions were asked about ten facets of a community including economy, mobility, safety, natural environment and health and wellness.

Survey had 95% confidence interval and a margin of error of +/- 4% for all respondents.

Custom questions regarding Measure U tax and its use to fund various City programs and services.

An open participation portion of the survey was open to all residents with 1,319 responses reported separately.

About The NCS™

The National Community Survey™ (The NCS™) report is about the “livability” of Sacramento. A livable community is a place that is not simply habitable, but that is desirable. It is not only where people do live, but where they want to live. The survey was developed by the experts from National Research Center at Polco.

Great communities are partnerships of the government, private sector, community-based organizations and residents, all geographically connected. The NCS captures residents’ opinions considering ten central facets of a community:

- Economy
- Mobility
- Community Design
- Utilities
- Safety
- Natural Environment
- Parks and Recreation
- Health and Wellness
- Education, Arts, and Culture
- Inclusivity and Engagement

The report provides the opinions of a representative sample of 700 residents of the City of Sacramento collected from February 18th, 2022 to April 8th, 2022. The margin of error around any reported percentage is 4% for all respondents and the response rate for the 2022 survey was 10%. Survey results were weighted so that the demographic profile of respondents was representative of the demographic profile of adults in Sacramento.

How the results are reported

For the most part, the percentages presented in the following tabs represent the “percent positive.” Most commonly, the percent positive is the combination of the top two most positive response options (i.e., excellent/good, very safe/somewhat safe, etc.). On many of the questions in the survey respondents may answer “don’t know.” The proportion of respondents giving this reply is shown in the full set of responses included in the tab “Complete data.” However, these responses have been removed from the analyses presented in most of the tabs. In other words, the tables and graphs display the responses from respondents who had an opinion about a specific item.

Comparisons to benchmarks

NRC’s database of comparative resident opinion is comprised of resident perspectives gathered in surveys from 27 communities, with similar populations, whose residents evaluated the same kinds of topics on The National Community Survey. The comparison evaluations are from the most recent survey completed in each community in the last five years. NRC adds the latest results quickly upon survey completion, keeping the benchmark data fresh and relevant. The communities in the database represent a wide geographic and population range. In each tab, Sacramento’s results are noted as being “higher” than the benchmark, “lower” than the benchmark, or “similar” to the benchmark, meaning that the average rating given by Sacramento residents is statistically similar to or different (greater or lesser) than the benchmark. Being rated as “higher” or “lower” than the benchmark means that Sacramento’s average rating for a particular item was more than 10 points different than the benchmark. If a rating was “much higher” or “much lower,” then Sacramento’s average rating was more than 20 points different when compared to the benchmark.

The survey was administered during the COVID-19 pandemic, a time of challenge for many local governments. While we provide comparisons to national benchmarks, it is important to note that much of the benchmark data was collected prior to the pandemic. This may impact how your City’s 2022 ratings compare to other communities’ ratings from the past five years.

Trends over time

Trend data for Sacramento represent important comparison data and should be examined for improvements or declines*. Deviations from stable trends over time represent opportunities for understanding how local policies, programs, or public information may have affected residents' opinions. Changes between survey years have been noted with an arrow and the percent difference. If the difference is greater than five percentage points between the 2021 and 2022 surveys, the change is statistically significant.

* In 2020, The NCS survey was updated to include new and refreshed items. Consequently, some of the trends may be impacted due to wording modifications that could have potentially altered the meaning of the item for the respondent.

Methods

Selecting survey recipients

All households within the City of Sacramento were eligible to participate in the survey. A list of all households within the zip codes serving Sacramento was purchased from Go-Dog Direct based on updated listings from the United States Postal Service. Since some of the zip codes that serve the City of Sacramento households may also serve addresses that lie outside of the community, the exact geographic location of each housing unit was compared to community boundaries using the most current municipal boundary file. Addresses located outside of the City of Sacramento boundaries were removed from the list of potential households to survey. Each address identified as being within city boundaries was further identified as being within one of the 8 council districts (council districts were redrawn in January 2022. Therefore, prior year results by council district may not be comparable due to the changes in the district boundaries). From that list, addresses were randomly selected as survey recipients, with multi-family housing units (defined as those with a unit number) sampled at a rate of 5:3 compared to single family housing units. The surveys mailed by district are as follows:

District 1 - 825
District 2 - 1,450
District 3 - 675
District 4 - 525
District 5 - 600
District 6 - 875
District 7 - 600
District 8 - 1,450

Due to historically low response rates, Districts 2 and 8 were oversampled to increase representation from the Districts.

An individual within each household was selected using the birthday method. The birthday method selects a person within the household by asking the “person whose birthday has most recently passed” to complete the questionnaire. The underlying assumption in this method is that day of birth has no relationship to the way people respond to surveys. This instruction was contained in the introduction of the survey.

Conducting the survey

The 7,000 randomly selected households received mailings beginning on February 18, 2022 and the survey remained open for seven weeks. For 3,500 households, the first mailing was a postcard inviting the household to participate in the survey. The next mailing contained a cover letter with instructions, the survey questionnaire, and a postage-paid return envelope. The final mailing contained a reminder letter, another survey, and a postage-paid return envelope. For the remaining 3,500 households, the first mailing was a postcard inviting the household to participate, followed one week later by one survey packet. All mailings included a web link to give residents the opportunity to respond to the survey online. All follow-up mailings asked those who had not completed the survey to do so and those who had already done so to refrain from completing the survey again.

About 2% of the 7,000 mailed invitations or surveys were returned because the household address was vacant or the postal service was unable to deliver the survey as addressed. Of the remaining 6,868 households that received the invitations to participate, 700 completed the survey, providing an overall response rate of 10%. The response rate was calculated using AAPOR’s response rate #2* for mailed surveys of unnamed persons.

It is customary to describe the precision of estimates made from surveys by a “level of confidence” and accompanying “confidence interval” (or margin of error). A traditional level of confidence, and the one used here, is 95%. The 95% confidence interval can be any size and quantifies the sampling error or imprecision of the survey results because some residents’ opinions are relied on to estimate all residents’ opinions. The margin of error for the City of Sacramento survey is no greater than plus or minus four percentage points around any given percent reported for all respondents (700 completed surveys).

In addition to the randomly selected “probability sample” of households, a link to an online open participation survey was publicized by the City of Sacramento. The open participation survey was identical to the probability sample survey with two small updates; it included a map at the beginning asking where the respondent lives and a question about where they heard about the survey. The open participation survey was open to all city residents and became available on March 25th, 2022. The survey remained open for two weeks. The data presented in the following tabs exclude the open participation survey data, but a tab at the end provides the complete frequency of responses to questions by the open participation respondents.

Analyzing the data

Responses from mailed surveys were entered into an electronic dataset using a “key and verify” method, where all responses are entered twice and compared to each other. Any discrepancies were resolved in comparison to the original survey form. Range checks as well as other forms of quality control were also performed. Responses from surveys completed on Polco were downloaded and merged with the mailed survey responses.

The demographics of the survey respondents were compared to those found in the 2010 Census and 2019 American Community Survey estimates for adults in the City of Sacramento. The primary objective of weighting survey data is to make the survey respondents reflective of the larger population of the community. The characteristics used for weighting were age, sex, race, Hispanic origin, housing type, housing tenure, and district. No adjustments were made for design effects. Weights were calculated using an iterative, multiplicative raking model known as the ANES Weighting Algorithm.* The results of the weighting scheme for the probability sample are presented in the following table.

NRC aligns demographic labels with those used by the U.S. Census for reporting purposes, when possible. Some categories (e.g., age, race/Hispanic origin, housing type, and length of residency) are combined into smaller subgroups.

The survey datasets were analyzed using all or some of a combination of the Statistical Package for the Social Sciences (SPSS), R, Python and Tableau. For the most part, the percentages presented in the reports represent the “percent positive.” The percent positive is the combination of the top two most positive response options (i.e., excellent/good, very safe/somewhat safe, essential/very important, etc.), or, in the case of resident behaviors/participation, the percent positive represents the proportion of respondents indicating “yes” or participating in an activity at least once a month.

On many of the questions in the survey respondents may answer “don’t know.” The proportion of respondents giving this reply is shown in the full set of responses included in the tab “Complete data”. However, these responses have been removed from the analyses presented in the reports. In other words, the tables and graphs display the responses from respondents who had an opinion about a specific item.

Highlights

Although Sacramento's economy remains an area of opportunity, employment opportunities are on the rise.

Most aspects of Sacramento's economy remained stable since the previous survey iteration, with a few notable fluctuations. About 6 in 10 respondents gave positive reviews to the city as a place to work, the overall quality of business and service establishments, and the variety of such establishments, all of which were on par with 2021 survey results and comparison communities nationwide. Roughly half of residents were pleased with the vibrancy of Sacramento's downtown/commercial area and shopping opportunities. Ratings for the city's employment opportunities (53% excellent or good) increased slightly since the previous survey, rebounding from a brief decline in the past few years. In contrast, respondents were less optimistic this year about the impact the economy would have on their personal lives. When asked how the economy would likely affect their family's income in the next six months, only 18% of residents anticipated a positive impact (compared to 29% last year), while 43% expected negative effects.

Respondents raise concerns about general affordability in Sacramento and support additional focus on the overall wellbeing of all residents.

Survey participants noted growing concerns about affordability across numerous facets of livability. Positive evaluations of the cost of living decreased slightly since 2021, resting at 19% excellent or good this year. Additionally, fewer positive ratings were given in 2022 for the availability of affordable quality food (49%), affordable quality health care (45%), and affordable quality mental health care (27%). Only about 1 in 10 gave favorable marks to the availability of affordable quality housing, similar to previous survey iterations but scoring lower than a custom subset of similarly sized communities. One-quarter of residents were satisfied the community's performance in taking care of vulnerable residents, lower than the national average, indicating room for growth in this area. In a custom question unique to Sacramento, residents were asked to help the City prioritize potential spending categories for Measure U funds. Most respondents highlighted community-based mental health and wellness (88%), making this the top priority identified by this question. A similarly high number (86%) also prioritized affordable housing and homeless supportive services.

Safety continues to be both a challenge and priority in the City.

Many safety-related ratings declined since Sacramento's previous survey, suggesting an opportunity for renewed focus in this area. One-third of respondents favorably evaluated the overall feeling of safety in Sacramento, which was lower than both the national and custom benchmarks. While about 80% of residents felt safe in their neighborhoods during the day, just over half said the same about Sacramento's downtown/commercial area. Fewer than half reported feeling very or somewhat safe from violent crime (46%) and property crime (40%), both of which decreased slightly since the City's 2021 results and lower than a custom subset of similarly sized communities. Ratings for Sacramento's police services held steady from last year, but crime prevention declined by nearly 10%, and each of these was also lower than in comparably sized jurisdictions. When asked which types of City services and programs the Measure U initiative should help fund, 87% of residents supported community response services (such as violence prevention/intervention, re-entry services, peer navigator, and case management). About 81% also felt that public safety services should be a priority for these funds.

Residents appreciate opportunities to participate in community matters and events.

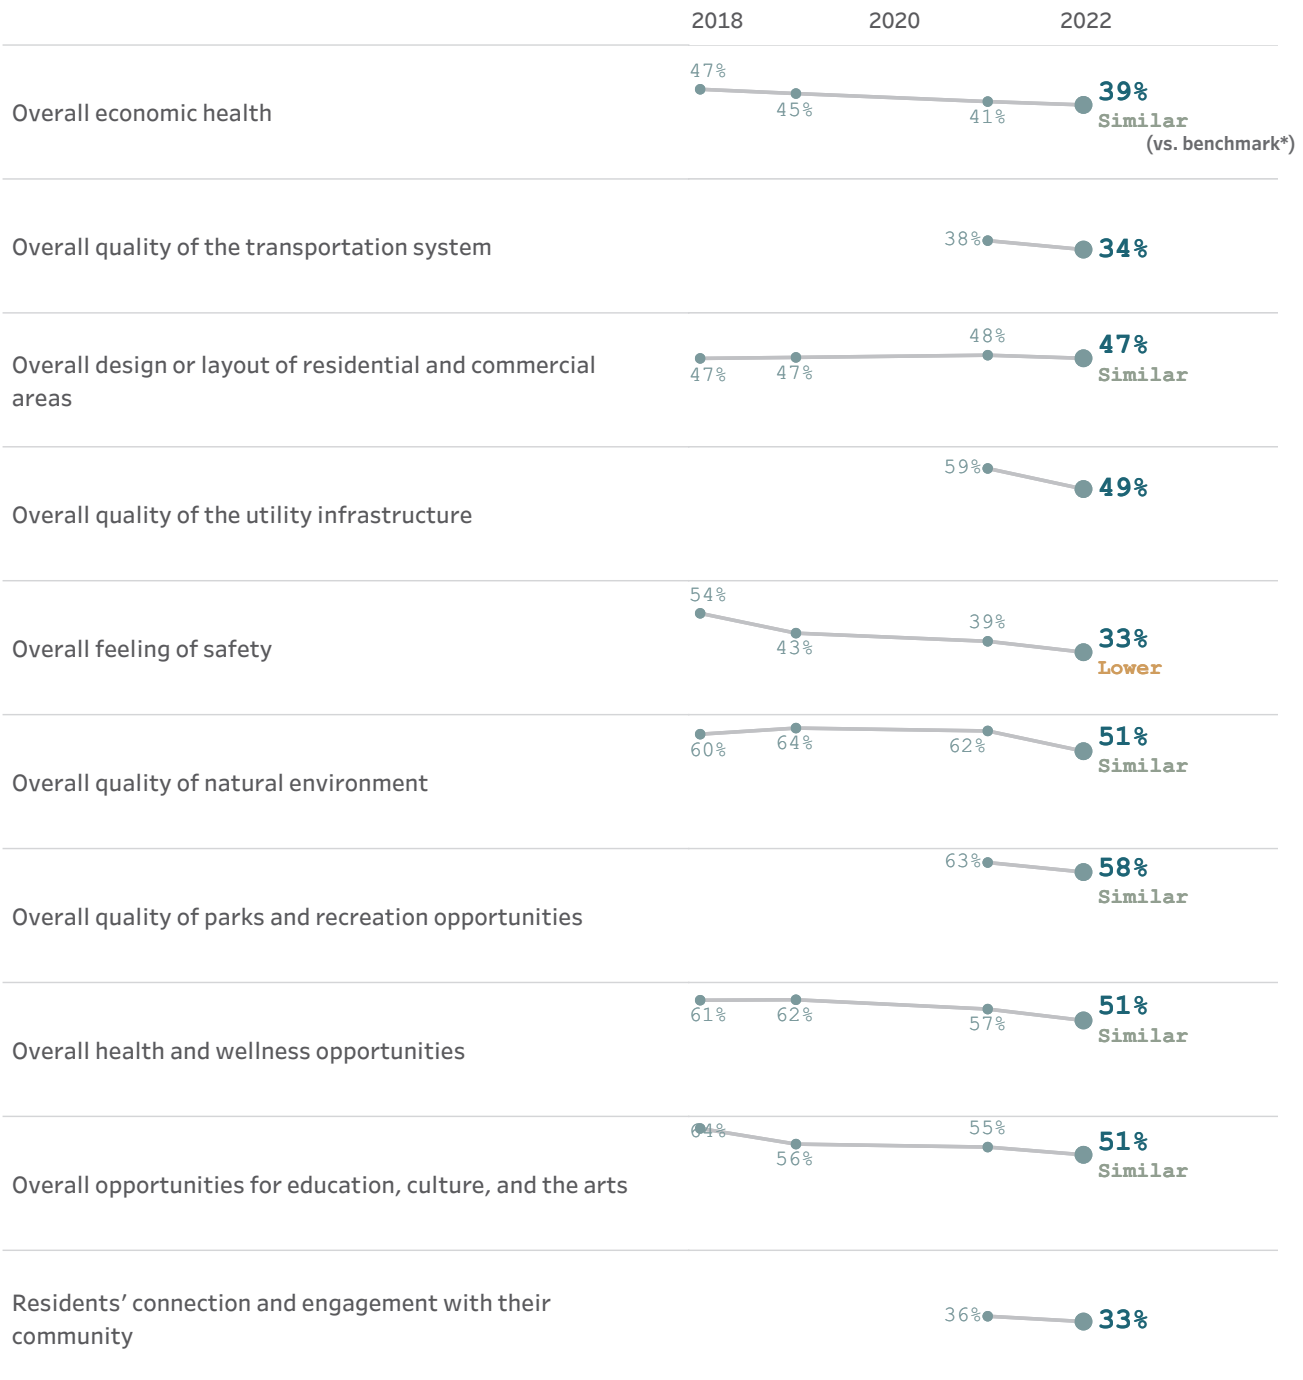

Evaluations of Sacramento's cultural and community events tended to be positive and on par with national averages. About 6 in 10 respondents were pleased with the opportunities to volunteer in the community, and at least half gave high marks to the opportunities to attend special events and festivals as well as cultural/arts/music activities. Nearly half also favorably rated their opportunities to participate in both community matters and social events and activities. All of these items were similar to the City's 2021 results and a custom subset of similarly sized communities.

Facets of livability

Resident perceptions of quality and importance for each of the facets of community livability provide an overview of community strengths and challenges that are useful for planning, budgeting and performance evaluation.

The charts below show the proportion of residents who rated the community facets positively for quality and the priority (importance) placed on each. Also displayed is whether local ratings were lower, similar, or higher than communities across the country (the custom benchmark comparison).

Balancing performance and importance

Every jurisdiction must balance limited resources while meeting resident needs and striving to optimize community livability. To this end, it is helpful to know what aspects of the community are most important to residents and which they perceive as being of higher or lower quality. It is especially helpful to know when a facet of livability is considered of high importance but rated as lower quality, as this should be a top priority to address.

To help guide City staff and officials with decisions on future resource allocation, resident ratings of the importance of services were compared to their ratings of the quality of these services. To identify the services perceived by residents to have relatively lower quality at the same time as relatively higher importance, all services were ranked from highest perceived quality to lowest perceived quality and from highest perceived importance to lowest perceived importance. Some services were in the top half of both lists (higher quality and higher importance); some were in the top half of one list but the bottom half of the other (higher quality and lower importance or lower quality and higher importance); and some services were in the bottom half of both lists.

Services receiving quality ratings of excellent or good by 48% or more of respondents were considered of “higher quality” and those with ratings lower than 48% were considered to be of “lower quality.” Services were classified as “more important” if they were rated as essential or very important by 78% or more of respondents. Services were rated as “less important” if they received a rating of less than 78%. This classification uses the median ratings for quality and importance to divide the services in half.

The quadrants in the figure below show which community facets were given higher or lower importance ratings (right-left) and which had higher or lower quality ratings (up-down). Facets of livability falling closer to a diagonal line from the lower left to the upper right are those where performance ratings are more commensurate with resident priorities. Facets scoring closest to the lower right hand corner of the matrix (higher in importance and lower in quality) are those that may warrant further investigation to see if changes to their delivery are necessary to improve their performance. This is the key part of this chart on which to focus. Facets falling in the top left hand corner of the chart (lower in importance but higher in quality) are areas where performance may outscore resident priorities, and may be a consideration for lower resource allocation.

Quality of life

Measuring community livability starts with assessing the quality of life of those who live there, and ensuring that the community is attractive, accessible, and welcoming to all.

The City of Sacramento is a full-service City and provides a wide range of services, functions, and programs to its residents. To help pay for some of these services, Sacramento residents in 2018 passed Measure U, a one percent sales tax increase. Please help us prioritize Measure U spending by rating the following categories. For more information on Measure U, please visit: bit.ly/3r7FuhY

National benchmark tables

This table contains the comparisons of Sacramento’s results to those from other communities. The first column shows the comparison of Sacramento’s rating to the benchmark. Sacramento’s results are noted as being “higher”, “lower” or “similar” to the benchmark, meaning that the average rating given by Sacramento residents is statistically similar to or different than the benchmark. The second column is Sacramento’s “percent positive.” Most commonly, the percent positive is the combination of the top two most positive response options (i.e., excellent/good). The third column is the rank assigned to Sacramento’s rating among communities where a similar question was asked. The fourth column is the number of communities that asked a similar question. The fifth column shows the percentile for Sacramento’s result -- that is what percent of surveyed communities had a lower rating than Sacramento.

Custom benchmark tables

This table contains the comparisons of Sacramento’s results to those from other communities with population between 400,000 and 5,000,000. The first column shows the comparison of Sacramento’s rating to the benchmark. Sacramento’s results are noted as being “higher”, “lower” or “similar” to the benchmark, meaning that the average rating given by Sacramento residents is statistically similar to or different than the benchmark (“null” is shown when no comparison can be made). The second column is Sacramento’s “percent positive.” Most commonly, the percent positive is the combination of the top two most positive response options (i.e., excellent/good). The third column is the rank assigned to Sacramento’s rating among communities where a similar question was asked. The fourth column is the number of communities that asked a similar question. The fifth column shows the percentile for Sacramento’s result -- that is what percent of surveyed communities had a lower rating than Sacramento.

Complete set of frequencies

This dashboard contains a complete set of responses to each question on the survey. By default, "Don't know" responses are excluded. When a table for a question that only permitted a single response does not total to exactly 100%, it is due to the common practice of percentages being rounded to the nearest whole number.

Comparison of Responses by Respondent Characteristics

This dashboard allows the user to specify which demographics to include in the table using the dropdown menu below. Responses have been summarized to show only the proportion of respondents giving a positive answer; for example, the percent of respondents who rated the quality of life as excellent or good.

In the "Statistical significance" tab, you will find a tool to help determine the threshold values for statistically significant differences between groups.

Comparison of Responses by Respondent Characteristics

This dashboard allows the user to specify which demographics to include in the table using the dropdown menu below. Responses have been summarized to show only the proportion of respondents giving a positive answer; for example, the percent of respondents who rated the quality of life as excellent or good.

In the "Statistical significance" tab, you will find a tool to help determine the threshold values for statistically significant differences between groups.

Statistical significance thresholds

Below you may select a demographic to find the thresholds for statistically significant differences between groups (i.e. the minimum difference between groups to be considered statistically significant based on the sample sizes). Use the drop down menu to the right to select demographic dimensions. If there were no responses within a specific demographic option, that option will not appear in the dashboard.

Comparison of Responses by Respondent Characteristics

This dashboard allows the user to specify which demographics to include in the table using the dropdown menu below. Responses have been summarized to show only the proportion of respondents giving a positive answer; for example, the percent of respondents who rated the quality of life as excellent or good.

In the "Statistical significance" tab, you will find a tool to help determine the threshold values for statistically significant differences between groups.

Statistical significance thresholds

Below you may select a demographic to find the thresholds for statistically significant differences between groups (i.e. the minimum difference between groups to be considered statistically significant based on the sample sizes). Use the drop down menu to the right to select demographic dimensions. If there were no responses within a specific demographic option, that option will not appear in the dashboard.

Full trends

This table contains the trends over time for the City of Sacramento. The combined "percent positive" responses for each survey year are presented (e.g., excellent/good or yes). If an item was not included during an administration of the survey, no percentage will be shown in the table. If the difference between the 2021 and 2022 surveys is greater than five percentage points, the change is statistically significant.

It is important to note that in 2020, The NCS survey was updated to include new and refreshed items. Consequently, some of the trends may be impacted due to wording modifications that could have potentially altered the meaning of the item for the respondent.

Methods (open participation)

As part of its participation in The National Community Survey™ (The NCST™), the City of Sacramento conducted a survey of 700 residents. Survey invitations were mailed to randomly selected households and data were collected from February 18th, 2022 to April 8th, 2022. The results from this main survey effort represent the most robust estimate of your residents’ opinions.

After the above data collection period was underway, a link to an online open participation survey was publicized by the City of Sacramento. The open participation survey was identical to the probability sample survey with two small updates; it included a map at the beginning asking where the respondent lives and also a question about where they heard about the survey. The open participation survey was open to all city residents and became available on March 25th, 2022. The survey remained open for two weeks and there were 1,319 responses.

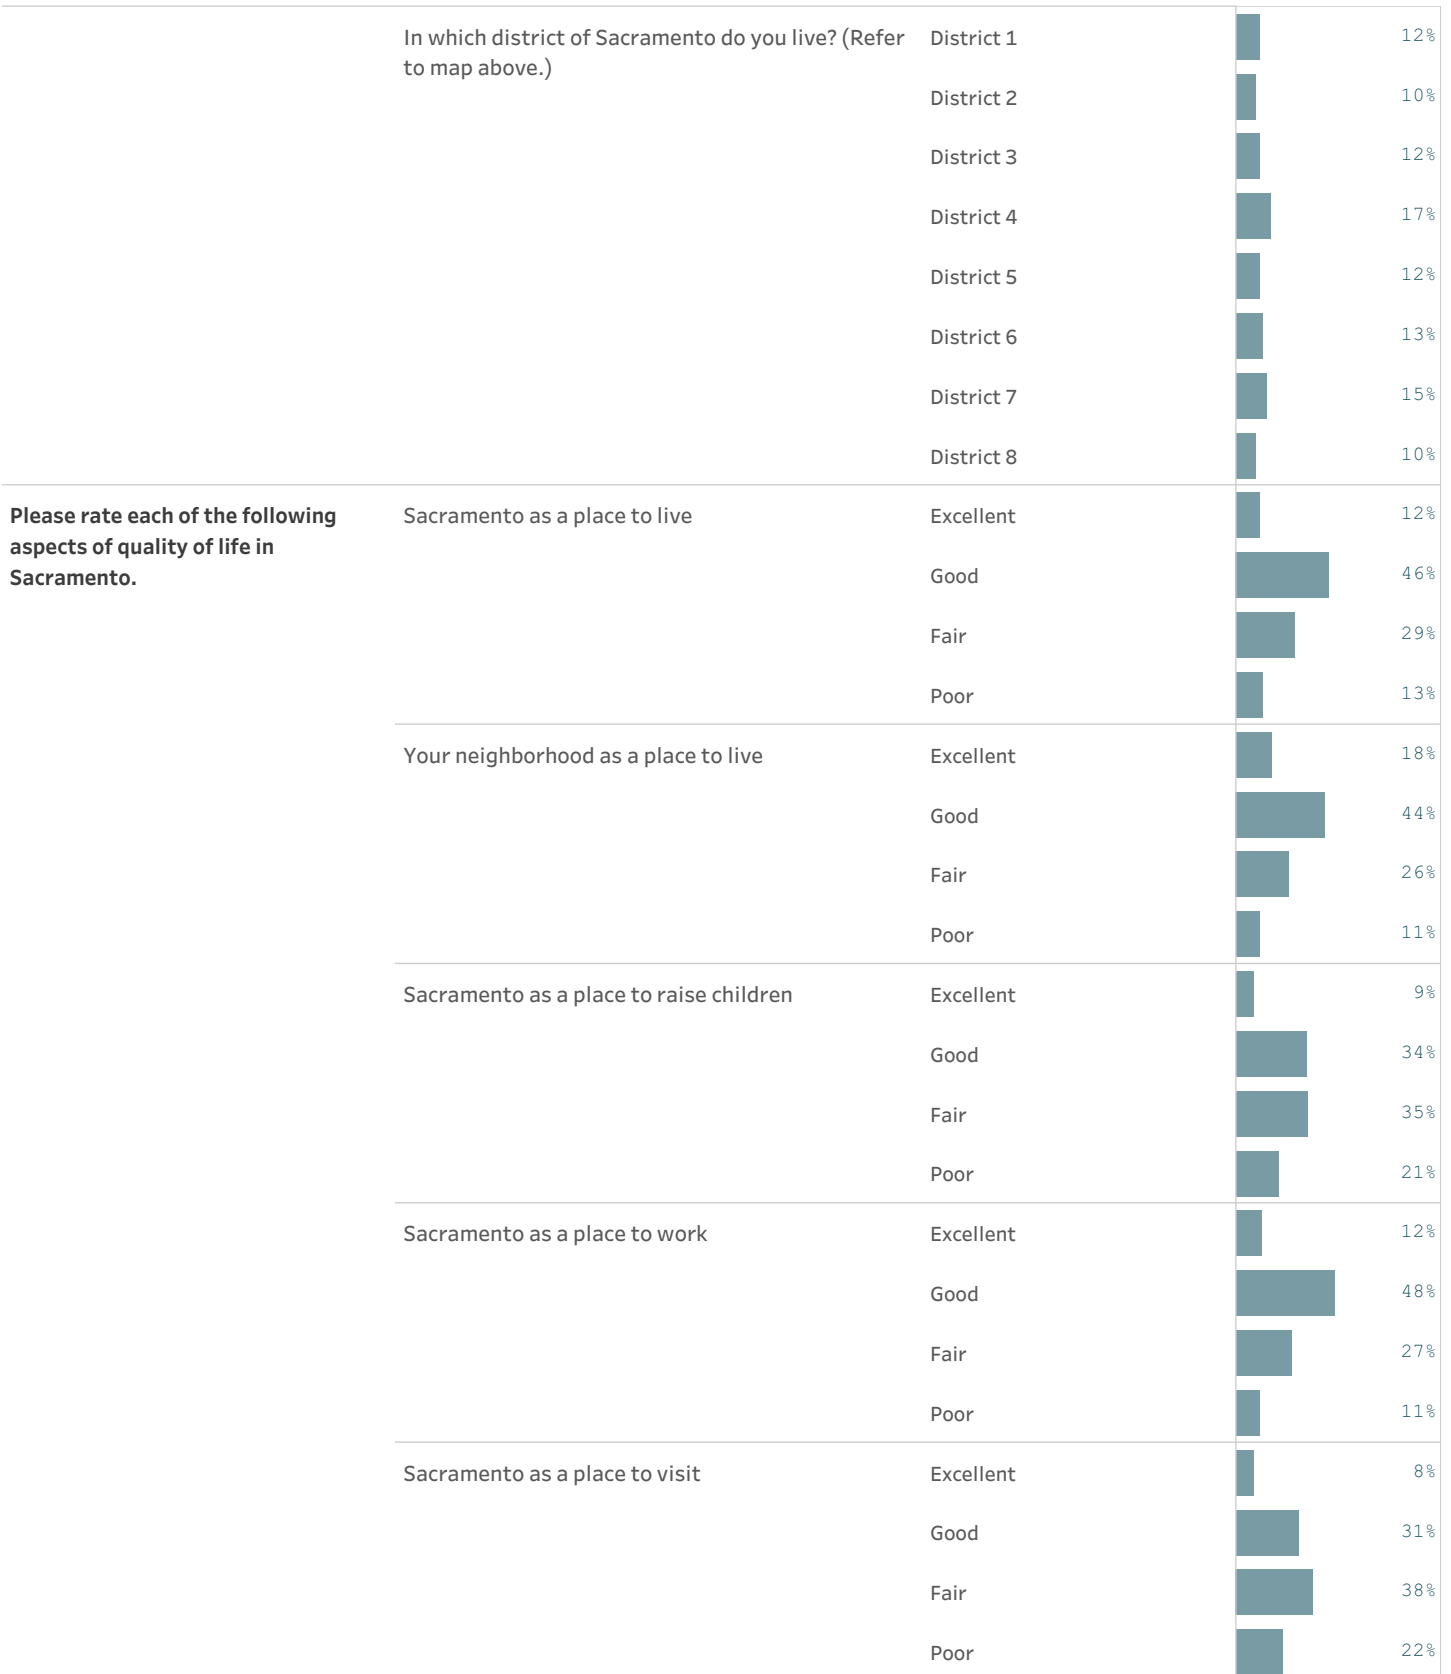

The open participation survey data were not collected through a random sample and it is unknown who in the community was aware of the survey; therefore, a level of confidence in the representativeness of the sample cannot be estimated. However, to reduce bias where possible, these data were statistically weighted to match the demographic characteristics of the 2010 Census and 2019 American Community Survey estimates for adults in the City of Sacramento. The characteristics used for weighting were age, sex, race, Hispanic origin, housing type, housing tenure, and district. No adjustments were made for design effects. Weights were calculated using an iterative, multiplicative raking model known as the ANES Weighting Algorithm.* The results of the weighting scheme for the open participation survey are presented in the following table.

Open participation survey results

This dashboard contains a complete set of responses to each question on the open participation survey. By default, "don't know" responses are excluded. When a table for a question that only permitted a single response does not total to exactly 100%, it is due to the common practice of percentages being rounded to the nearest whole number.
