SACRAMENTO REGISTER OF HISTORIC AND CULTURAL RESOURCES

Alkali Flat North Historic District

This small area of nineteenth-century houses centers on D Street between 11th and 12th Streets. The Maria Hastings Building is its stellar contributor. Approximately six buildings within the district have been demolished or removed. However, the area's visual coherence and its links to Sacramento's architectural development have weakened substantially.

New boundaries are not being proposed but because so many of the district's buildings have been demolished or removed in the past decade, the City of Sacramento should reexamine its commitment to preserving this area.
