The current single-family residence is a single-story floodplain home.
The owner's project proposes lifting the building in place and adding a new ground floor beneath the existing floor.
The project will also slightly expand the building footprint on the south and east sides.
The new ground floor plan will include a studio junior ADU of approximately square feet.
The remaining portion of the new ground floor will connect to the new second floor through an interior stairway.
The junior ADU will also connect to the new ground floor space of the single-family residence.
The ADU will initially be used by a family member.
