Occupation: Public Health Professional
Statement: Why should we trust the people who got Sacramento into this mess to get us out? I’m tired of politicians serving their corporate donors and abandoning the public, so my people-powered campaign rejects corporate PAC money. As a public health expert and four-term chair of the Measure U committee, I’ll provide the leadership needed to solve our homelessness and housing crisis, make our streets safer, and create quality jobs while protecting our climate.

At the Department of Public Health, I built coalitions to expand women’s health coverage, and decreased infant mortality statewide. I’m an epidemiologist with a PhD in Public Health. For years I’ve advocated for bold action on housing and workers rights. I’m endorsed by labor unions, small business owners, progressive leaders, and community groups.

My parents were public school teachers and union members. They taught me to fight for our community. I lost my dad at age eleven. He started smoking when Big Tobacco lobbyists lied about the dangers. Since then I’ve dedicated my life to passing policies that help us live longer and healthier lives.
