Candidate Statement:

For more than 20 years, Natomas has been more than just my address; it is where my family and I have built our lives. My commitment to Sacramento comes from years of community service, leadership, and deep civic involvement.

I am running for City Council because our city needs steady, practical leadership focused on results. Families are facing rising costs. Homelessness impacts our neighborhoods. Public safety and quality of life must be strengthened. We need balanced solutions that combine compassion with accountability and keep our streets, parks, and businesses safe and welcoming.

Over the years, I have served in leadership roles as president of several community organizations and vice-president of our local homeowners association, bringing people together, managing budgets, and delivering results. That same results-driven approach has guided my 25-year career in information technology and business leadership. Combined with a Master of Business Administration, it has shaped my commitment to smart budgeting, fiscal responsibility, and long-term planning.

Guided by integrity and transparency, I am committed to building a Sacramento where families feel safe, voices are heard, and our future is bright.
