Other female races pose a concern as well for several job categories. Another concern is several races--for females--are underrepresented for Protective Services: Sworn. A possible contributing factor for underutilized groups may be that the City needs to continue robust recruitment efforts for all the significant underrepresented groups. The City will continue recruitment efforts of all underrepresented groups for all job categories, including Protective Services: Sworn. The City will continue to monitor these areas to determine how successful City initiatives are and continue to explore other viable options and determine what prudent adjustments may be required. The City is committed to equal employment and striving to have a workforce that reflects the community it serves.
