Office of Public Safety Accountability

ABOUT US

The Office of Public Safety Accountability (OPSA) is an independent office established by the Sacramento Mayor and City Council in 1999.

OPSA encompasses civilian oversight practitioners who are responsible for conducting concurrent officer-involved shooting investigations as well as tracking, monitoring, reviewing, and auditing allegations of misconduct involving the Sacramento Police Department (SPD) and the Sacramento Fire Department (SFD) personnel.

WHY IS OPSA SO IMPORTANT?

- To help keep SPD and SFD accountable to our communities
- To increase transparency through public reporting
- To combat systemic issues, community inequities, policy violations, and employee misconduct
- To conduct policy and pattern-or-practice investigations

Trust is earned when actions meet words.

SIGNIFICANCE OF COMMUNITY INVOLVEMENT

- Involvement builds trust, legitimacy, and mutual respect in public safety
- Involvement creates collaborative partnerships with public safety
- Involvement helps develop effective solutions to community problems
